

December 2010 ended with a big bang for Cap'n Clawed and Lady Bisque. A new knee arrived under the Christmas tree for Clawed, and a first grand-child, son Mason Sims Mohler, arrived in Austin, Texas, home of his parents, Frances and Jeremy!

Possibly you didn't realize that lobsters have knees, but it's true. They are in the same anatomical category as "Bee's Knees!" Probably you didn't realize that Clawed and Lady were old enough to become grandparents, but it's true. When asked what he hopes his grandson will call him, after pondering "Sir," Clawed swiftly replied, "Grandfather Claws!" leaving his political and attorney friends scratching their heads and smiling.

PICTURED LEFT: NEWBORN MASON IN CONTROL
RIGHT: MASON,
MATURE AND SMILING

